This group's Baritone, Bonnie Willis was singing four part harmony with her three sisters longer than she can remember. You could say she was born to sing barbershop music. Bonnie joined Sweet Adelines in 1960 with Lakeside Chorus, later sang with Jet Cities Chorus and then joined Seattle Shores Chorus in 1988. While in these choruses, she has served almost every office available in a chorus and directed Seattle Shores from 1994 till 2009. However, her first love has always been quartet singing. Among the quartets she has been in are Heartbeat and The Embers. She has many well deserved medals from Regional and International Quartet Competitions. You might think all this would be enough to keep any woman busy, but Bonnie is not just any woman. She did all this while working full time, raising 2 beautiful daughters (who also sing), and owning and running a working cattle ranch. She has also been in several quartets at her church.

Jeanne Anne Craig is singing Bass. She is currently a member of A Capella Joy and has been for 8 years, She started quarteting as a child with her parents and sister as they would drive the 20 miles to her grandmother's every Sunday in an old car with no radio. Jeanne Anne has been in several quartets and thinks singing in a quartet is the second most fun thing in the world to do. Since she no longer plays golf first place is up for grabs.

The Lead, Barbara Fine joined the Seattle Shores Chorus in 2007. She was Chapter President in 2010, and has served on the Board of Directors for four years. She has been singing since she could walk, and has been in numerous musical theater productions around Puget Sound. Barbara also has extensive choral experience, and when she is not singing, she loves to travel to warm climates.

Singing tenor is Judy Cooper-MacLaren. She joined Sweet Adeline in 1992 and has sung primarily with Seattle Shores Chorus. In 2009 she took over the directorship of the chorus after Bonnie Willis retired as director. She has sung in several different quartets and loves the quarteting experience. You may ask how the other two members feel about singing with two directors, but they are strangely quiet on this subject as they are rarely able to get a word in during rehearsals. In her other life Judy is a clinical research coordinator, married to a very understanding man, and is a proud Mom to three amazing young women who all have beautiful voices. Her middle daughter Miranda sings in the front row of Seattle Shores. Finally, Judy has an exceptional granddaughter, four year old Amelia, who can also sing, but is currently too small to fit into any of the costumes.
